10 Most Exciting New Restaurants in San Diego

PONSATY'S

One of the most anticipated restaurant openings of the year, French master chef Patrick Ponsaty's elegant namesake fine dining spot offers classic Basque cuisine of France and Spain, composed of locally sourced ingredients. The setting—including two patios, a clubby bar and an elegant main dining room—is opulent, intimate and comfortable. Dinner must begin with caviar service—1 ounce of Royal Shassetra Caviar—paired with crisp Champagne. A curated list of fine wines features some excellent French options, while standout dishes include charred local octopus with chorizo and pan-seared king filet with wild mushrooms and bone marrow sauce. 6106 Paseo Delicias, Rancho Santa Fe, 858.771.1871
